Special Value Day Set In City

Cameron's third Special Value Day opens with 20 stores participating Monday.

Red placards will mark the store fronts where specials and shoppers meet, both for savings and registration for the possibility of winning a $25 in gift certificates.

The winner will be announced Tuesday, according to Bill McIntosh, president of the United Merchants Assn. The certificates will be redeemable in merchandise in the participating stores

Winner of the April gift certificates was Mrs. Sam Janes of Rosebud. Mrs. H. W. Simms was winner of the $25 in gifts in May.

Many of the participating stores are offering specials on inside pages of this edition. Watch for the numbered ads which designate the store specials.

The red card theme also is being used within the stores, Bill McIntosh said. Red cards at the points of sale inside participating stores and, in some cases, red tags on special merchandise carry out the theme of Special Value Day.

Twenty stores joining in the United Merchants Association program are: Anderson T.V., Cameron Herald, Cameron Lumber Co. Culpepper's Furniture, Duke & Ayres, Eplen Furniture, Harden's Jewelry, Horstmann's, Irving's Dept. Store, J. C. Penney, Leader Dept. Store, Lewis-Chili Shoe Store, McIntosh's, Nabours' Ben Franklin, New Cameron Pharmacy, Schigut's Dept. Store, Schiller Pharmacy, Western Auto, Henry's Mens Store and White's Auto Store.

There's a lot of moxie in this young man; moxie, that's gumption, know how, come-from-behind know how. It's that good ol' try.

It takes brains and talent, which in the final analysis of hyped-up modern education, is a somewhat common commodity. But they don't make much moxie anymore

We'll let you in on an open secret about this country newspaper; we ask just a little more of our people than they may think they have. And seldom have Herald people disappointed us.

And this young man, proud we are to say one of the Herald people, showed the moxie that meets the demand.

We speak again of one Robert Mann, now a senior at Sam Houston State College. One other time, we wrote of his first-year performance in journalism, along with James Hollas, two years since a staffer at the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

In those some two years since, Robert has worked quite a schedule, along with young wife Ann, in school and caring for an infant daughter.

Robert has been named editor of the Sam Houston student newspaper; and he is president of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism honorary at that campus.

36-1011

Robert didn't tell us about these recent honors. We learned from his parents after he visited the plant last week. Whoever heard of a humble Mann with moxie?

We have to say we're proud. If the ol' Herald wins a Pulitzer Prize someday, we wouldn't be prouder. And Cameron can be proud of such youngsters by any name.

Robert has been at this journalism business almost as long as a lot of men 10 years his senior. He came to the office in 1957, then about 13, and wanted to write sports. Well, he wrote sports, features, worked radio some, wrote daily newspaper some and went to school. But it didn't hurt him, did it?

About here, there might be a moral in this tale. But everybody knows it's only the beginning for Robert Mann, now 21, and anybody else who shows some stuff at that age.

Perhaps the likeliest thing, Robert, is that they'll expect a lot more of you, people here and there, who criticize success and criticize failure.

But we all know, Robert, and James Hollas, and a lot of other Herald people who know their stuff, that the standard best served is the one only you read and only you follow.

End of eulogy, young Mann. Get to work.

Yr's Rainfall Totals 25.78 Inches, Little River Floods Again

Rainfall in Cameron over the past week measured 40 inches bringing the total rainfall for the first five months of this year to 25.78 inches, just 6.22 inches short of the normal yearly rainfall.

Two inches of rain fell in an hour's time last Friday bringing Little River out of bank for the second time this month, according to Water Supt. Alvin Hefft.

Little River rose to 31.90 feet Saturday morning and was expected to crest at 34 feet. However, the river did not reach the crest level and by Sunday morning was back in bank.

Rainfall for the month of May totals 9.18 inches compared to .91 inches in May of 1964, Hefft noted.

New 3-Year Alcoa Contract Increases Wages, Benefits

Aluminum Company of America has signed a new three-year contract with the United Steelworkers of America affecting nearly 1500 employees at ten Alcoa plant locations, according to Ralph Nichols, public relations manager at Rockdale Alcoa Works.

The new contract covers about 930 hourly workers at the Rockdale plant represented by the Steelworkers and also hourly employees at the Point Comfort (Texas) Operations.

The contract, effective June 1, 965, provides for an increase of 10 cents per hour for the first year, with an additional .2 of a cent on the increments between wage rates, and includes building the present cost-of-living adjustment of 23 cents an hour into the basic wage structure. Substantial improvements in medical and hospital insurance benefits are also included in the first year of the agreement.

In the second year, benefits are devoted to improvements in pensions, increasing the minimum from $2.60 to $5 per month for each year of service. In addition, certain employes who retire early because of disability, long layoffs or plant shutdowns will receive a $100 per month supplement until normal retirement age of 65.

Present pensioners will receive an increase of $15 per month, effective in June, 1966. Provisions were also made for retirement after 30 years of service at the option of the employee.

In the third year, the new agreement provides for seven cents an hour general wage increase and .2 of a cent additional on the inccements between wage rates. Provisions were also made for improved sickness and accident benefits for employees with more than two years of service. These benefits are at the rate of 70 per cent of the employee's job rate for up to two years of disability.

Alcoa also announced immediate partial price restorations on virtually all fabricated products.

The new prices involve varying adjustments up to one cent a pound. They apply to all forms of sheet and plate, soft and hard alloy extrusions, foil, wire, rod and bar, and aluminum bronze powder.

Alcoa said that equivalent price adjustments also will apply to such engineered aluminum products as castings and forgings.

'Let's Modernize': Brown

Reagan Brown, rural sociologist of Texas A&M University, May 25th challenged about 70 Milam community leaders to modernize their rural centers for modern life "which no longer sees a difference between rural and city living."

Speaking at Minerva Community Center, Brown showed slides of rural communities throughout Texas which have organized and improved their homes, farming practices and way of life.

He addressed leaders from eight Milam communities and Cameron in a dinner meeting sponsored by Texas Power & Light Co.

He asked that communities make a list of the "things they have and the things they don't have and go to work." And he noted that prizes of some $16,000 go annually to top community projects throughout Texas.

Reagan Brown

Introduced by Dan Schrader, TP&L, Waco, Brown told his audience that about 900 communities are participating in the Texas Community Improvement program. His slides showed dozens of examples of how small communities develop pride, new income and satisfaction in improving their homes, churches, farm practices and attitude toward neighbors.

The dinner was served by members of the host Minerva Community, which recently installed a water system and has since seen some new-home construction.

Leaders from Ben Arnold, Cameorn, Gause, Sharp, Milano, Marlow, Davilla, San Gabriel and Tracy attended.

County Agent J. D. Moore introduced various representatives from the communities after Henry Siebman, TP&L of Cameron, welcomed the group.

Rev. William Parma, recent Texas Rural Minister of the Year, of San Gabriel, urged the group to consider the program and join in efforts to bring it to their communities.

A spokesman from Leroy Community, McLennan County, briefly described their efforts over the past four years which won Leroy a state award in this year's community judging. He noted that his community even started a news letter which regularly described their community efforts to improve.

Gift Center Grand Opening Saturday

Grand opening for the new Town House Gift Center will be Saturday at its location at 106 West First Street.

The new center is the S&S Redemption Center and will also feature gifts for cash purchase.

Reynolds Laywell, who is operating the concern with Charles J Matula, said the center has been established for the convenience of savers of the hometown S&S Red Stamps.

All items can be purchased with stamps, part stamps and part cash or all cash, Laywell said. Most of the items in the S&S catalog will be kept in stock, but orders will be taken for patrons when the desired merchandise is not in stock.

The Town House Gift Center will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily except Thursday.

DOWN TO BUSINESS — About 70 Countians hear Reagan Brown, rural sociologist of Texas A&M University, tell of the advantages of participating in the Texas Community Improvement program.

Town Meeting To Plan, Promote Industrial Growth

Kelley, Easter Join In Forum

City, county and state heads will get together Tuesday with one common goal in mind — the formation of plans to boost the economy of Cameron through industrial development.

State heads from the Texas Industrial Commission along with utility, railway and freight companies will be in Cameron to assist in the program to study this communities needs.

James J. Kelley, assistant executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission in Austin, will give a resume on what industry looks for, which industry is more suited to Cameron and which industry Cameron would be most suited for.

Charlie Easter of Caldwell will discuss how Caldwell planned and carried out a program which resulted in a highly successful economic development for their area.

The Town Meeting will get underway at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, June 8, at the Methodist Fellowship Hall under the sponsorship of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce.

LOCAL PLANS

Local information on chamber, city and school plans for future development will be presented during the forum type meeting.

A.W. "Mac" McCullin, member of the Chamber Industrial Committee will present the Cameron Industrial Foundation and what must be done to follow through for its success.

Cameron Mayor Bassel Wilson will point out projects that are in the planning stages for improvements throughout the city.

School Board President C. R. "Roy" Law will project plans for the improvements of the Cameron school system.

Eugene Smitnerman will appear on the program to stress the necessity of a good attitude in a town and tell where this is important in relationship to the amount of progess that is developed.

OPEN FORUM

R. W. Wells, chairman of the Town Meeting, said at the conclusion of these presentations, people in attendance will be asked for their ideas, suggestions and criticisms.

"It is our hope that there will be a huge turnout, because of the attendance of the industrial department executives from over the state," Wells said, and continued, "also, people are urged to take part in the open forum so that more effective planning can be made for Cameron's progress."

Wells emphasized the purpose of the meeting is to bring together the various leaders and groups in Cameron who share a responsibility in the future of Cameron.

ENDORSE MEETING

The program to study this community's needs has been endorsed by many state company representatives who will attend the meeting.

"These men are interested in us, but they will also be viewing our enthusiasm and willingness to work in order to accomplish our goal," said Chamber of Commerce president Forrest Sapp.

Among those who will attend will be John W. Perryman Jr., director of Area Development of Lone Star Gas Company, Dallas; E. Coy Stamphill, manager of Community Development, Texas Power and Light Company, Dallas; and Olin G. Humphries, Asst. Mgr. Industrial Development, Southern Pacific, Dallas; Norman Smith, General Freight Agent, Southern Pacific, Dallas, and M. A. Taylor, general sales manager, Central Freight Lines Inc., Waco.

Invitations are going out to city, civic, county, school and church personnel as well as business houses and professional men.

All Cameron residents interested in the growth of their city are urged to attend the Town Meeting and have a part in forming its future.

Shell Wildcat Reported Near Permit Depth

Milam County's deep wildcat, the Shell Oil Company No. 1 Nell Ross, was drilling at 14,759 feet at last report on Friday, and some oilfield sources thought it either was very close to or had reached its permit depth of 15,000 feet early this week. The wildcat has been making about 50 feet of hole a day recently.

Shell is drilling the big deep test tight, so it is not known whether it has yet encountered the Smackover, which is its objective. The Smackover, according to some geologists, is expected to be located at about 14,500 feet in that area of eastern Milam County.

There were rumors a couple of months ago that if the Ross did not find the Smackover at its expected depth, Shell would re-permit and drill the wildcat deeper. But this has not been confirmed by the company.

In the Rice Schoolhouse area, the Brown & Smith Oil Company of Houston was completing its first wildcat, the No. 1 Henry Pattillo, as an oiler at mid-week The test was expected to produce gas also, but a number of cores failed to find any gas shows. Depth of the Pattillo was 1,050 feet.

James Seaton Trial Set For June 17

The jury trial of James Seaton, 17, who is charged with assault with intent to murder, has been scheduled for June 17 in Milam District Court, according to County Attorney John B. Henderson Jr.

Seaton, of Cameron, was indicted by a Milam Grand Jury for assault with intent to murder on April 22 in connection with the assault of Larry Jackson, 25, also of Cameron. The assault allegedly occurred on April 4 near Western Bar 6 miles from Cameron.

CHARLES HENSON NAMED BOSQUE COUNTY AGENT

Charles W. Henson, assistant Milam County Agricultural Agent, has been named county agent of Bosque County. He will be succeeded here by Ronald Bailey of Anson.

Henson, who has served the Milam County area for the past two years, will move to Bosque County June 11 to assume his new duties.

"Because of the cooperation of adults, this job has been an enjoyable one," Henson said.

While in Cameron Henson has been very active in civic and church work along with his duties as assistant county agent. His work in the county office was primarily with the 4-H groups of the area. He also served on the board of directors of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce. He headed the agricultural committee last year and served on the Fair committee, poultry committee and education committee.

He and his wife Carol are members of the First Baptist Church. They will make their home in Meridian, Texas.

Bailey, the newly appointed asaistant county agent is married and has two children. He and his family will be moving to Cameron the early part of June.

3,200 New Items Stocked In Stores, 2,100 Discontinued

COLLEGE STATION

Many new products - including food and non-food items - present a challenging yet somewhat confusing choice to meny consumers.

A recent nationwide analysis of chain, voluntary and cooperative supermarkets disclosed that since 1959, some 3,200 new items were offered in retail stores, says Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, Texas A&M University Extension Service specialist in consumer information.

During the same period, some 2,100 other items were discontinued. This, the overall increase was at the rate of approximately 220 items each year, the specialist says.

Non-food items have made important contributions to the sales and profits of the supermarket, but retailers now generally agree that there are definite limits to the number and kind of produc. that can be handled. Today, the major non-foods lines consist of health and beauty aids, housewares, sofe goods, magazines, toys, phonograph records and stationery. Their combined sales represent 6.7 percent of the total supermarket sales.

A look at food items in stores this week shows that cottage cheese continues to be much in the spotlight as a dairy special for calorie counters. Cheddar cheeses also are appearing more frequently at special prices.

Egg prices did not go down as much as expected following the Easter holidays. However, some reductions in prices are still anticipated. The price difference between large and medium egg sizes is expected to be in evidence during the next several weeks,

Henry Ivey Wins Scholarship For Study In Florida

Henry N. Ivey, county supervisor of the Milam and Burleson County Farmers Home Administration office, has been awarded a scholarship to attend the University of Florida during the period June 21 through July 9.

The scholarship was one of 20 awarded to eligible applicants in 16 states and the only one awarded to an applicant from Texas.

The course is especially designed for agricultural agency workers whose daily work involves the implementation of government policy for agriculture.

The scholarships are provided by the Agricultural Policy Institute at Raleigh and granted to the applicants selected by the committee in charge of the course.

Ivey was recommended for the scholarship by L. J. Capplemen, state director of Farmers Home Administration and the course will assist Ivey in carrying on his work with the rural families in Milam and Burleson Counties.

Mrs. Ivey and their two children, Gwen and Tom, will accompany Ivey and visit in Florida during the time that he is at the University.

J. Camp Completes Insurance Course

NEW YORK

James D. Camp of the Camp Insurance Agency in Cameron, was awarded a certificate of merit May 28 upon the completion of an intensive six-week course conducted by The Continental Insurance Companies at their New York City home office. Presentation of certificates to the 24 graduates was made by William E. Matchett, president of Continental. The award ceremonies were followed by a dinner held at the Princeton Club.

The purpose of the School of Insurance is to bring continental agents up to date on recent developments in the increasingly competitive insurance industry, particularly in the area of multi-peril insurance packages. In a program of lectures, classroom discussions, tests, field trips and interviews with company executives and technical specialists, the agents completed 210 training hours covering all phases of property and casualty insurance. Special emphasis was given to the group's Comprehensive Business Policy.

New Caparol
controls weeds in cotton at layby
without residue problems in crops planted next spring.

You can spray new Caparol* at layby for control of most annual broadleaf weeds and grasses, without fear of a soil residue carryover to harm crops planted in the spring of 1966. Just apply Caparol after your cotton is up six inches or more and before weeds are two inches high.

Spraying Caparol at layby will give you control until your cotton is up high enough to shade out any weeds that may germinate late in the summer. You can even apply Caparol where other herbicides have already been used and you find weeds breaking through.

Caparol is easy to handle and apply. Just direct the spray at the base of the cotton plants. You'll get quick knockdown of the young weeds and grasses. Then the action of Caparol continues to control weeds and grasses through the roots as they germinate for the next several weeks.

With Caparol on the job, you won't have weeds to compete for moisture and plant food. And you won't have rank weeds to foul up harvesting . . . to stain and downgrade lint.

So plan now to use Caparol at layby. It's available through your local supplier.

CAPAROL is a trademark of the Geigy Chemical Corporation for its brand of PROMETRYNE herbicide.

Styles, Hobbies, Education Crafts Highlight Retirement Workshop

Area residents gained inspiration and knowledge of how to be happy and successful during their retirement years at a workshop May 25.

Styles of wearing apparel, displays of creative arts and demonstrations, income crafts, films, educational displays and planning for retirement years were presented to the 71 registered guests.

H G. Kenagy of Bryan, a retired insurance executive and former assistant professor at A&M University, explained how a retirement could be planned and out-lined ways for individuals to evaluate their retirement and realize its effectiveness.

A review of adult figure fashions were presented men and women models during the Style Show. Chairman was Mrs. Hinton Pruitt.

Retail stores participated in making the style show a success, according to Anna Marie Ramke, Home Demonstration agent. They were: McIntosh's Department Store, J. C. Penney's Co. and Viv-Rae's.

Modeling the adult fashions were Mrs. M. A.Hearne of Cameron; Mrs. Wavy Charles of Tracy; Mrs Guido Gersbach of Davilla; Mrs. C.D. Robbins of Davilla; Mrs. Henry W. Brown of Cameron; Mrs. George Young Sr. of Tracy; Mrs. Sam Houston of Cameron; Mrs. W. E. Roberts of Davilla; Mrs. Willie Falkner of Cameron; Mrs. Roy Harris of Tracy; N. D. Fuller and Hinton Puitt, both of Cameron. Mrs. E. O. Smith was style show narrator.

CREATIVE ARTS

Mrs. J. B. Sapp, chairman of Displays and Demonstrations, had five displays of creative arts, showing exhibits of useful articles economical and practical for money making activities to supplement retirement income.

Participants in these displays were: Mrs. Willie Falkner, Mrs. Alice Brown of Tracy; Mrs Lelia Rogers; Mrs. Lola Sparks; Mrs. McKiever Walker of Davilla; Mrs Ralph Caffey, Tracy; Mrs. Grabein of Rockdale; and nine from the Town and Country Club of Thorndale.

Charlie Terry discussed vegetable gardening and August Kuntz explained the craft of cabinet making.

Mrs. Willie Falkner demonstrated ribbon roses and presented a rose corsage to six of the oldest ladies in attendance.

A film, "No Time to be Lonely," was shown following the demonstrations.

The four basic needs for successful retirement planning were stressed during the educational portion of the program. The were: financial security, good health, need for participating in worthwhile endeavors, to give inspiration and need for active creative activities.

The Cameron Public Library staff displayed many books geared to help make retirement years successful through reading.

Three of the selected 20 senior citizens were present, Mrs. W. O. Triggs, Henry Helpert and Jim Bartlett. Allen Skidmore, member of the Governor's Committee on Aging and Mrs. Carter, state co-ordinator on Aging, were present.

POWERFUL PROTECTION

Against cotton insects

Stop the bollworms, weevils, budworms, fleahoppers and many other insects before they damage your cotton crop. Long-lasting SEVIN insecticide controls major cotton insects well and does this protective job with a minimum number of sprays or dusts. Powerful in cool or warm weather, SEVIN insecticide helps you make bigger profits from cotton!

Against residue problems

SEVIN is safer to use than many other insecticides and can be applied to cotton fields near ponds, streams, pastures and many other crops. Follow label directions for use and the residue on forage does not contaminate milk or meat of livestock. SEVIN can be used close to harvest of many crops. When you use SEVIN insecticide you get no residue buildup in the soil.

City Little League Auxiliary Organizes, Elects New Officers

Cameron mothers met Monday night to organize the Little League Auxiliary.

Officers elected were Mrs. Doris Hornung, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lois Sapp, Minor League reporter, and Mrs. Ida Zajicek, Little League reporter.

Last season the operation of the concession booth at Little League Field, under the organization, made about $700 which was donated to the Little League Summer Recreational progam.

Other Cameron students planning to attend summer school are Suzanne Lippman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lippman, who will return to Trinity University for summer work, and Jo Ann Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Anderson, who will study at Sam Houston for the first semester this summer.

—MURRAY GO ROUND—

By Tom Murray

NOTES, QUOTES, NONSENSE:

Among other things, height destroys the eye's ability to size up a man's stature. To Sky Box tenants at the Astrodome, every baseball player is as tall as your eight-year old...Day before opening of the Astrodome, Houston Sports Association employees were running around the labyrinths in a daze. One raised a walky-talky to an ear as the machine began to crackle. "Hello, Mr. Easter," our hero spoke into the receiver, "where are you?" From the W-T came an anguished reply: "I really don't know, to tell you the truth." One thing! about the Hofheinz Roundhouse--there is no room for expansion...Overheard conversation before the big Houston Sports Palace opened: Telephone operator gets call from one of the gates. "Mr. Brown, of Brown and Root, is at the gate. To which the operator askes, about Lyndon Johnson's personal friend: "Does he have a pass?"

Those who claim the Astrodome was designed for the rich have not been there and do not know Roy Hofheinz. The Judge knows the rich man can sit in only one seat at a time. There are many more middle-class Texans to match the seats than rich, in spite of wild stories told in the East... Hofheinz, who travels the Astrodome miles in an electric golf cart, says, "Walking is for the birds."

Te H.S.A. spent six million for that scoreboard and got a bargain. That neon jewel attracts more fans than the Dome and team together..Los Angeles writer Bud Furillo squealed at sight of the most expensive "scorebook" ever built. "It is great for the fans," spoke the normally critical Furillo. "It is great entertainment and Texas fans deserve it. Some of our players griped about its being used to cheerlead, but I disagree. The fan misses many a meal to come to the ballpark and he deserves all the entertainment he can get. Say, I personally come apart when that little man comes out on that pony!"...When Hofheinz had the last laugh as he usually does--following accusations the Astros were helped by changing air currents in the Astrodome, he boiled: "That investigation burned their cookies."

The Astrodome is made up of nine levels of seats...Fred Hofheinz, the Judge's Attorney son and HSA Veep, sat for Rhodes Scholar exams with State Representative Maurice Doke, the U.T. All - American linebacker ..Scott Appleton, the Houston Oiler Tackle has always been a blue-chip. The day the Brady All-Stater reported for football at U.T., Defensive Coach Chalrey Shira said, "I wish I had $100,000 to invest in Scott's future!"...Appleton was All-SW frosh, three times All-SWC and All-America...Those Aggies are tough. Imagine being hazed before you can play for the losingest team in the SWC.

Couple years ago, when the Dodgers traded one-time great Duke Snider to the Mets, Bob Hope chided: "I was sorry to see Duke Snider go to the Mets. They don't need a Duke." e chuckled, "they need a chaplain!"...Furillo, the writer, called Bo Belinsky and Dean Chance, "...the kookiest left side of Palookaville."

4 Milamites Graduate At SW Texas State

Four Milam County students were among approximately 280 candidates to receive degrees from Southwest Texas State College May 30 in ceremonies held in Strahan Gymnasium.

Dr. Ralph W. Steen, president of Stephen F.Austin College in Nacogdoches, gave the convocation address in the 62nd spring graduation ceremony.

Receiving degrees were Richard M. Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Graham of Cameron. He was awarded a bachelor of arts in government. While a student at San Marcos college, he was a member of the Young Democrats and served as treasurer of the organization.

James Barta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Barta of Route 2, Cameron, received his bachelor of science in education.

Miss Lenora Ann Malone of Milano was awarded a bachelor of science degree in home economics. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Malone of Route 3, Cameron.

Charles Orsag of Buckholts was awarded a bachelor of science degree in agriculture. Orsag is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Orsag of Route 2, Buckholts. While a student at San Marcos, he was a member of FFA, Delta Tau Alpha agriculture honor society and Luther League.

Bridal Shower In Westphalia Honors Miss Patricia Zavrel

Miss Patricia Ann Zavrel, bride-elect of Marvin Green, was honored with a bridal shower at the Parish Dining Hall in Westphalia Sunday, May 30.

Hostesses were Mrs. Marvin Roessler, Mrs. Melvin Green, Mrs. Ray Kosel and Mrs. Gilbert Green. Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Jerome Hoelscher, Mrs. Roman Roessler, Mrs. Darwin Bruggman, Miss Mary Frances Ruzicka and Miss Carolyn von Gonten.

The future bride's chosen colors of yellow and white were carried out in decorations. The center table laid with a white lace table cloth over yellow, held a spring flower arrangement of the bride's chosen colors. Completing the setting were two white tapered candles in crystal holders on each side of the arrangement.

The table which held the bride's book was covered with a white lace table cloth and held a miniature bride and groom, standing beneath a trellis yellow roses completed the setting.

The hostesses presided with the gifts, games and refreshments. Approximately 50 guests attended.

Special guests were mothers of the bride and groom to be, Mrs. Ladis J. Zavrel and Mrs. Willie E. Green, also Mrs. Ben Roessler, grandmother of the groom to be. The future bride and these guests were presented with a corsage of white carnations entwined with yellow ribbon.

The wedding will take place June 26 at St. Monica's Catholic Church in Cameron.

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

Several years ago some 1,800 old automobile bodies were chained down in 60 feet of water off the Texas coast.

Idea was to make three artificial reefs, each composed of 600 car bodies. First one was built off Port Aransas. Others are off Post Isabel and Freeport

Only 200 wrecked bodies were dumped into the salt water the first go 'round. For a few days there were all sorts of rumors about the biologists throwing away a lot of money. They said the car bodies had washed away and no one could find the.

I wasn't very long, however, until boaters smart enough to find where the bodies had been dumped were circling them and coming up with a nice big fish on every trip around. Then some of the very fellows who cried loud against the initial experiment asked for more.

As a result the other two locations were made. They now produce thousands of fish a year.

Home for Fish

Other states are using similar programs. Some use old auto bodies. Others have dumped in old street cars. One group weighted down old beer kegs with cement and still others have hauled in old freight cars.

Enroute to Dallas, recently, I saw a half dozen old Pullman cars. Couldn't help but think what wonderful fishing reefs they would make.

There is nothing new about building such reefs. It is following the principle of nature. For millions of years fish have been hiding among rocks, old wrecked ships and other protective cover in the bottom of the oceans and lakes.

Perhaps this is one of the major secrets of the fine fishing right now in Falcon Lake, on the Rio Grande, below Laredo. The bottom of this lake is brush lined. Fish like to hide in that brush.

Also for years fishermen have learned to build brush covers in some of our lakes. We heard of one fisherman recently who chained together a bunch of old automobile casings and lowered them into the water at a secret spot where only he knows.

Since he keeps the hole baited he'll have a good fishing spot all his own, until someone else finds it. Then he'll have competition, for it will produce fish.

Building of brush covers and the lowering of automobile bodies or old ties, into a public unpoundment, can cause trouble.

In the first place, unless the cover is lowered deep enough it might be a hazard.

Also water supply lakes would not be benefitted by such practice.

And on the lakes built by the Corps of Engineers the practice probably would be frowned upon.

For that season I'd suggest that, if you plan to build a cover in any lake, you first check legal requirements. Then proceed accordingly.

Bait Fishing Holes

Many pole fishermen now bait holes. There are numerous legal ways.

You can lower a bale of alfalfa hay, a sack of corn chops some old bones or even a gallon of syrup with a hole in the bottom of the bucket. Any of these things will attract fish.

Now we're getting around to a discussion of pole fishing.

With all that can be said of plugging or fly casting, the pole fisherman still is one of the few real lucky persons. After all, it's THE fishing for a man or woman who has the patience and who really enjoys the sport.

Every time I see a woman with a sunbonnet and a man with a straw hat and a cane pole I feel sentimental. It's a way of life for these people. It's an easy relaxing, enjoyable life which most of them follow methodically.

But these pole fishermen are learning a few tricks for comfort. I've seen them drive their station wagons to the weter's edge, set up nice folding chairs, put a pole holder into the bank, bait the hook, then sit back and take it easy. That is the original way to relax!

Barge Fishing is Fun

Another way to fish leisurely is to barge fish.

When it comes to easy fishing, barges now offer all the comforts of home. Practically every lake has one or more. Some are just tin barnes. Others are deluxe structures. Many of them are eated in winter and air conditioned in summer.

They have comfortable chairs a place for the rod to rest and a snack bar where you can buy a sandwich or something to drink.

All are baited, so most of them pay off real well. At night floodlights are turned on to attract crappie. And usually there are quite a number of big old carp swimming around ready to take a worm or dough bait.

County Agent's Notes

Maize Prospects Good Survey Says

By J. D. Moore

Robert Clark of the Production Credit Office; H. M. Yager, farmer and stockman in the Maysfield Community; and J. D. Moore, county agent, made a tour of the Maysfield and Branchville Community May 27.

Crop prospects are best for the earlier planted maize crop. Clark estimates a 20 percent damage to the maize crops in the area from the Norman Valley Bridge down Little River to the Brazos. Wilburn Beckhusen, farmer in the Buckholts-Sharp area estimated a 10 percent loss to the maize crop above the Norman Valley area. Later planted maize crops received more damage from the floods apparently because the smaller stalks were not as strong as the older plants.

Stage of Growth - Several fields of maize are "heading-out" and a number of the fields are in the "boot" stage of growth.

Maize Crops Prospects - Even though a percentage loss is reported, the Milam County maize crop will be better in '65 than the '64 crop due to good moisture.

A&M Agronomist recommends going slow on shredding off the maize plants in the flood area. They suggest that we observe the terminal growth for a few days before making a decision. This may be done by cutting the plant open from the terminal all the way down through the "head" area. If the "head" area shows no damage, the crop should produce near normal.

Cotton crops receive a greater set back than maize and forage crop. 25 to 50 percent of the cotton will need replanting in the Maysfield-Branchville area. June planted cotton is unpredictable because of the cost of insect control and overflows. In 1957 we had 8 inches of rain in Milam County on October 13, 14 and 15, with a damaging overflow Oct. 15, 1957.

Crops look good in the Thorndale area. Of course, there is some crop damage in the Brusy Creek bottom lands.

PRICE OUTLOOK GOOD

Texas pork producers can look forward to good hog prices for the remaining months of 1965, says Extension Economist John G. McHaney. Hog numbers in the U.S. were down 9 percent on Jan. 1, 1965, from a year ago. In Texas, they were down 24 percent, he said. The more favorable prices and improved outlook for the months ahead could encourage an expansion in farrowings but, if this happens, he added, prices and slaugter supplies probably would not be affected until late this year or early 116.

Revised U.S. Dept.of Agriculture beef grading standards will go into effect June 1. The new standards will leave the Prime, Choice, Good and Standard classifications unchanged, but will reduce marbling requirements for beef in those grades, depending on grade and degree of maturity, says Frank Orts, Extension meats specialist at Texas A&M University, will not materially affect the

Economist Sees Little Improvement In Cotton Prospects For 1965

COLLEGE STATION

A Texas A&M University agricultural economist sees few encouraging signs in his spring review of the outlook for cotton.

John G. McHaney, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says the carryover for U.S. upland cotton on Aug. 1, 1965, is expected to reach 13.4 million bales, up 1.3 million bales from last year. And, he adds, this is the fourth consecutive year the carryover has increased. The record carryover of 14.4 million bales was set in 1956.

Despite a rise in domestic mill consumption, the total disappearance of upland cotton for the 1964-65 year is well below the production for 1964, the economist said. Exports, which play a very important role in total disappearance of cotton, have declined sharply this year, McHaney said.

The economist listed three major factors behind the expected 21 percent drop in exports. They are the record production of cotton in reduced free-world trade with Communist countries because of their near record production and the working down of cotton stocks in importing countries.

Foreign free-world consumption of cotton is expected to total a record 2 million bales. Production in these same countries also set a new record of 25 million bales for the 1964-65 year. The sharpest increases were in Central America and Africa, McHaney said.

In order to make U.S. Cotton available for export and at competitive world prices, the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture has announced that the initial rate for payment in kind for the 1965-66 crop year under the Cotton Equalization Program will be approximately 5.75 cents per pound.

Texas cotton growers should continue to strive to produce cotton at the least possible cost per pound. This means the use of the latest findings from research and demonstration farms covering all phases of cotton production, says McHaney.

GOALS SIMILAR

Rural and urban America share so many common objectives their differences by comparison are minute, says U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville S. Freeman. More employment opportunities, improved educational services, better health facilities, better housing and maintenance and restoration of beauty are being sought just as vigorously in the countryside as in the cities, he said. And progress toward these goals in either area accelerates progress in other.

Water Study On San Gabriel Out

The San Gabriel River in Central Texas is the topic of the Texas Water Commission's latest report released by Chairman Joe D. Carter. The new report relates the results of low-flow studies, discussing the amounts of water and the cemical quality of the base flow in the river.

Three potential reservoir sites are included in the San Gabriel-survey. Special attention was given to streamflow gains or losses in reaches that will be inundated if these reservoirs are built.

The report, Bulletin 6510, is entitled "Base-Flow Studies, San Gabriel River, Texas, Quantity and Quality, March 16-18, 1964" and was written by D. K. Leifeste and J. T. Smith of the U.S. Geological Survey. The Water Commission paid for one-half of the cost of the study.

The study covers the lower San Gabriel River watershed in Williamson and Milam Counties. It was found that the San Gabriel generally gained flow throughout the reach studied. Streamflow ranged from 8.48 cfs (cubic feet per second) at the most upstream measurement site on the North Fork San Gabriel River to 65.5 cfs near the mouth of the San Gabriel River.

Stram discharge was measured or estimated at 46 sites. Chemical analyses of water samples were made for 40 sites in the study area.

Chemical findings indicate the water in the river meets standards for drinking water utilized in Interstate Commerce recommended by the U.S. Public Health Service. The water is satisfactory also for irragation. It is generally hard, however, and probably sould be softened for municipal use as well as for certain industrial uses.

"There was no loss in flow in the portions of the stream that would be inundated by the three reservoirs if built," the report states. "Reservoirs at the three potential sites...would impound water of good quality, with dissolved-solids concentrations generally less than 250 ppm (parts per million)."

A copy of Bulletin 6510 may be obtained without charge from the Texas Water Commission, P.O. Box 12311, Austin, Texas 78711.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"PAYMENT IN FULL" . . . . . .

Suppose a borrowing friend of yours has run up a debt of substantial size. According to your calculations, he owes you $1800. But according to him, he owes you only $1200.

One day he sends you a check for $1500, with the following notation:

"PAYMENT IN FULL."

Should you go ahead and cash it, saving the arguments for later? There is a problem. For if you do, you may be giving up your claim to the extra $300.

The law sees it this way:

When your friend sent you a check with that condition attached, he was making an offer to settle a bona fide dispute at a compromise figure. If you cash the check, you automatically accept his offer and make a binding contract of settlement.

Would you prefer to preserve your claim to the full $1800? Then the safest way is to return the check. Halfway measures are risky. Thus

One man receiving such a check tried crossing out the notation. Another man erased the word "FULL" and wrote in "PART." But in each case, the act of cashing the check was held to have cancelled any further claim. The court ruled that the creditor had no right, on his own initiative, to change the terms of the offer.

But while the creditor should be wary, so should the debtor. His intention of making a settlement offer doesn't count unless he makes that intention clear to the creditor.

For example, suppose your friend in the above case had sent you the check without any notation at all. With no reason to think otherwise, you could properly assume this was merely a payment on account - leaving a $300 balance still due. Cashing the check in those circumstances would not hurt your claim for more money.

In short, the law won't let a debtor "off the hook" unless he gave you fair warning that cashing his check would have that effect.

And on the other hand, the law will hold you to a settlement fairly arrived at. After all, a compromise is often the best solution to an argument of this kind. Fifteen hundred dollars in the hand may well be worth $1800 in the sweet by-and-by.

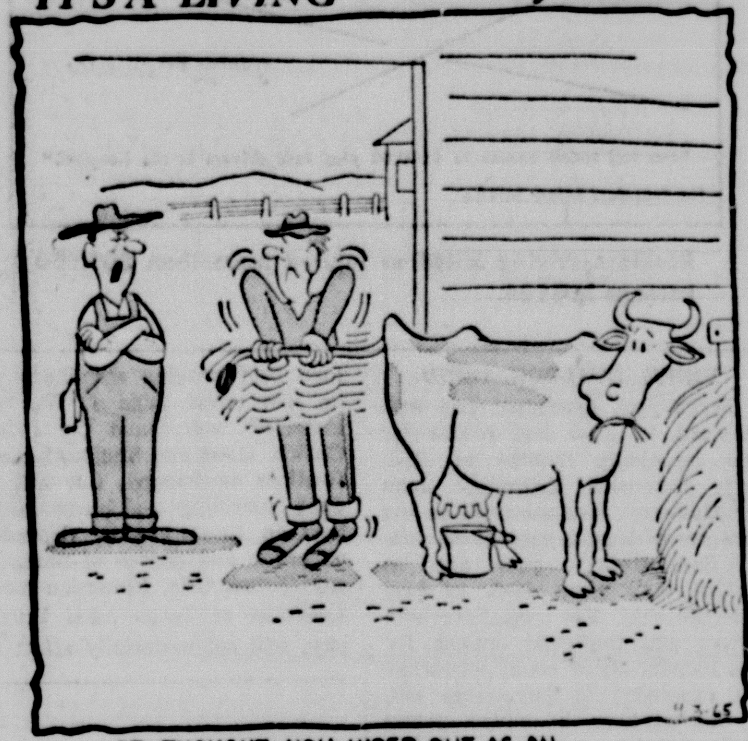
IT'S A LIVING --by Al Johns



"I THOUGHT YOU HIRED OUT AS AN EXPERIENCED MILKER?"

Nola Knows

By Nola White

Dear Nola - Every time we have guests, they bring along the family pooch. Last summer was the limit. We had a poodle in the house; a bird dog on the back porch; two hounds in the back yard, and my cocker in the city kennel. I need help fast - summer vacations are almost here! How can I keep people coming - without their dogs?

Going to the Dogs

Dear Going - Get a house full of cats!

Dear Nola - I have a neighbor who has a beer drinking habit. If she runs out of beer, she calls me to borrow some. This is usually two or there o'clock in the morning. I have a hard time going back to sleep when awakened at this hour. I get very aggravated and have told her so.

Mrs. E.M.A.

Dear Mrs. A - She can't borrow what you ain't got! Next week get a case of soda pop instead You'll both be better off!

Dear Nola - My wife thinks I should turn over my entire income and depend on her even to determine my weekly allowance. She has never had any experience in handling money. Should I do this?

Caddo Cad

Dear Cad - Sounds to me like there's more to this question than you cared to write. If you've been squandering the family money, don't expect me to bail you out! Normally, no man should be expected to turn over his entire income to his wife and receive an "allowance" however, if she's a better manager than you - regardless of experience - and if maybe she's been getting phone calls from creditors, you might be wise to let her handle your income awhile. The best course would be for both of you to do some budget planning (with the help of your banker) and get your family on sound financial footing.

Personal to Involved - Men like that are as transparent as Scotch tape and just as sticky. Better hand him his hat and show him the door.

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

Do You Know The Shortcuts To Charm And Happiness?

By Jane Sherrod Singer

Arlene Francis is considered to be the epitome of charm. Known for her capacity for work in show business, civic and charity movements, her statements are as sound for men as for women: "You, as a person, already have charm, although you may not be aware of it. It's your own, very special charm; no one else can duplicate it exactly - - You can get at it only by releasing yourself - - from the tenacles of fear, unjustified guilt, tension, self-pity, self-centeredness and a dozen other nuisances." With this in mind, and based on her pointers, try the following:

	YES	NO
1. Do you plan your coming day the night before?	( )	( )
2. Do you force (if necessary) yourself to get into a happy mood when you get up in the morning?	( )	( )
3. Are you usually well-groomed?	( )	( )
4. Do you sometimes do something nice and unexpectedly for someone else . . . just for the pleasure of doing it?	( )	( )
5. Do you have a hobby?	( )	( )
6. Do you have (or are you working on) a sense of humor?	( )	( )
7. Can you organize your work efficiently	( )	( )
8. Are you a good listener?	( )	( )
9. Do you brood about past mistakes?	( )	( )
10. Are there many things you are timid about?	( )	( )
11. Are there a number of people whom you dislike heartily?	( )	( )
12. Do you daily try to improve your environment?	( )	( )
13. Do you take at least fifteen minutes a day to read something worthwhile?	( )	( )
14. Can you lose yourself easily in the problems or activities of others?	( )	( )
15. Do you often feel burdened by fears and/or guilt?	( )	( )
16. Do you have faith in a Higher Power?	( )	( )

ARLENE FRANCIS SAYS:

1. Yes: Plan your day the night before. Then you will avoid the frustrations of having a dozen tasks pile up on you at the same time.
2. Yes: Those first few moments can set your mood for the whole day.
3. Yes: Being well-groomed will give you a feeling of poise and well-being.
4. Yes: This is rewarding and furthermore fun for you.
5. Yes: An interest will keep your mind out of its everyday rut. Become a specialist on whatever subject interests you.
6. Yes: Resolve to control your temper and learn to laugh at your own mistakes.
7. Yes: Divide your tasks into small units and tackle them one at a time. Take one chore you've been putting off and resolve to clean it up today.
8. Yes: Concentrate on what the other person is saying.
9. No: Put aside the small fears that drain your energies and vitality. Get your mind off yourself and on to something else.
10. No: Do one thing you've been too timid to do in the past.
11. No: If there are people you dislike, force yourself to wish him well.
12. Yes: Do one thing each day to make your home more attractive for yourself and your family.
13. Yes: And we said WORTHWHILE. A longer period is also recommended whenever possible.
14. Yes: Stop thinking about yourself and get absorbed in the affairs of others.
15. No: Examine your fears and guilts and try to find out how many of them are imaginary. Then you can get rid of them for good.
16. Yes: Do have faith in a Higher Power.

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH THIS WEEK

Millions Leave Them There!

LOST BOY

Dry those tears, Sonny. The Law has brought you home.

But when you're grown up, don't get lost then—for the Law won't be able to bring you home!

Sure, grown-ups often get lost. They choose the wrong road, they take the wrong turn, they depend on the wrong ideas, they seek the wrong aims. And some of them get lost again and again.

Why can't the Law bring them home, too? Well, when a grown-up gets lost he generally does a lot of harm to himself and others. And then it's the job of the Law to protect people from the harm he is doing.

But, Sonny, when you grow up you're not going to get lost. We have thousands of churches for youngsters like you—and for your parents, too. Churches teach us to find ourselves before we have a chance to get lost.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Felix Matula Sr. Dies, Rites Held

Felix Matula Sr., 83, retired Cameron businessman, died Sunday in a local hospital.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the St. Cyril & Methodious Church. Rev. George Bonhard officiated with burial in Marak Cemetery.

Mr. Matula was born July 15, 1881,in Fayette County. He lived in Cameron 54 years and was in the grocery business until recent years when he operated a watch repair shop. He was a member of the KJT and Catholic Workmen organizations.

Survivors include his wife of Cameron; three sons, Felix Matula Jr., Jerry Matula and L. J. Matula, all of Cameron; two daughters, Mrs. Theresa Thompson and Miss Mary Matula, both of Cameron; eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Marek-Burns Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

'Bel Canto' Singers To Appear In City

The nationally known Bel Canto Singers of the Boles Home at Quinlan, Texas, are scheduled to sing at the Cameron Church of Christ, 3rd and N.Central, 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The singers are currently on their 16th annual summer tour. The first two months of the present three-month tour includes appearances in many cities throughout Texas, California and the Southwest. In August they are appearing throughout the South, the East and Midwestern States, including performances at the New York World's Fair.

These programs are presented free of charge as a service of Boles Home and of the local church of Christ, and no contributions are taken. The Bel Canto Singers, an a cappella group specializing in inspirational hymns, spirituals and other familiar church songs, presents seven concerts each week, under the direction of Mr.Dan E. Parkerson. During the school year, they make many weekend and evening appearances.

Boles Home is a home for children supported by members of the churches of Christ. It is composed of two units, with the original one located at Quinlan, where 245 children live, and the H. S. Foster Home in Stephenville, where 40 children live.

The public is cordially invited to attend the concert.

Weekend Nets Two Traffic Accidents

Highway Patrolman Leroy Broadus reported two highway accidents over the weekend resulting in damage to vehicles, but no serious injuries.

Saturday at 9:15 p.m. an auto driven by Billy Martin of Cameron rammed into the rear of a parked vehicle.The vehicle, owned by Frank Salazar, was parked in front of the Cameron Bowling Lanes on Columbus Street. Both vehicles received about $100 damage each.

Martin was taken to St. Edward Hospital for treatment and released. Broadus said he was given a citation for failure to control speed and driving with a driver's license.

Sunday at 12:15 a.m. Miss Vallie Holcek Peschel of Route 2, Rosebud, hit a horse on US 77 about 2 miles north of Cameron. There was about $150 damages to the automobile. The accident was fatal to the horse, a Shetland pony, but no injuries were listed to the occupant of the car.

Ol' Ben Milam

Tuesday Plan, Wednesday Action . . .

No one need ask The Herald whether it favors the community's obvious and growing enthusiasm for the June 8 "Town Meeting", the industrial community development program sponsored by the Cameron Chamber.

Through some sometime flamboyant enthusiasm, we have entertwined for years absolute necessity of communities this size, and particularly this Milam community, working together.

Tuesday night is a good opportunity. Some of Texas' best industrial men will be in that "Town Meeting" audience, listening to the talks and waiting, primed with expert counsel. Tuesday night is a good time to listen to those talks and ask those men questions.

Wednesday morning would be soon enough to continue down the "development trail", which meanders sometime, but which straightens quickly when good minds and money, abundant here, together stride off.

Cameron is big enough to compete with other communities for beneficial growth. And Cameron is too small to continue without industrial organization.

No need to ask whether we'll be there. The question will be: "Is there enough room for everybody who plans to attend?"

More On Water . . .

After looking upon the lakes of water in the Little River Valley, flooded by swollen uncontrolled San Gabriel River, we join other editorial voices urging action for flood control and relief for Milam bottomlands.

The Williamson County Sun last week urged that efforts be increased to construct control on the San Gabriel, sites for which are currently designated at Georgetown (2) and Laneport.

On the planning table and drawing boards since the late 1940's, control at Laneport has evoked considerable disagreement on dam location. And the Georgetown sites have been included in a massive plan to eliminate such devastation, not only in Milam but far below where swollen Little River waters surge into the Brazos and to the Gulf Plain.

Twice while disagreement has engulfed Gabriel dam control that river has surged into a full Little River and inundated tens of thousands of acres of Milam farmland. And in a few days, those same waters flooded Brazoria County and a wide Gulf area.

This seems a terrible waste, and a waste that can be avoided. This week a water study has been released by the Texas Water Commission on the suitability of Gabriel water for drinking and industrial purposes.

This is a step nearer, but the final step ought to be some consensus that this senseless waste costing perhaps millions, can be stopped at the damline of sufficient water control structures.

With Elm Creek, Little River, Brazos River, San Gabriel River and numerous tributaries flowing through ol' Milam County, water is, at present, a first-order asset going down the drain . . . taking a lot of Milam land and hopes with it.

Texas 4-H Club members from every section of the state will be on the campus of Texas A&M University, June 1-3, for their annual roundup. Winners in 30judging and demonstration contests will be named on June 2. Some state winners will qualify for national contests which are to come later. Attendance is expected to total 2,000 boys and girls, adult leaders, Extension Service agents and Friends of 4-H.

George Washington, only president of the U.S. who never lived in the White House, laid the cornerstone for the building on October 13, 1792.

59th Legislature Overhauls Record

AUSTIN

By Vern Sanford

Political and Legislative history has been written in the 59th lawmaking session just ended. Highlights.

-A $3,600,000,000 budget providing for expanded services in every area of state government and affecting every citizen.

-Record improvements in higer education, including creation of the powerful coordinating board for Texas colleges and universities.

-A $101,000,000 salary raise for school teachers, $70,000,000 of which will be paid by the state.

A sweeping overhaul in the entire system of state mental hospital and tuberculosis control administration.

-Major public welfare expansions, including a proposed constitutional amendment to permit full state participation in the new federal medical care program for the aged, blind and disabled A provision of the amendment would qualify non-citizens who have lived in the state for 25 years or more.

-Overhaul and extension of the state's program for water control and development.

-Congressional and legislative redistricting which will change the makeup and complexion of future legislatures, shifting the balance of power from rural to urban areas.

-If voters approve proposed constitutional amendments, the Senate will be enlarged from 31 to 39 members and terms of the govern or and other statewide-elected officials now limited to two years, as well as those of state representatives, will be extended to four years.

Gov.John Connally emerged as the most powerful governor in modern Texas history.

WHAT IT WILL COST DESPITE its record achievements, the 59th session handed a relatively modest tax bill to Texas citizens.

Cigarette smokers will bear virtually the entire share of the cost. Tax was increased from eight to 11 cents a pack--the nation's highest state rate. This will raise $70,000,000 to $73,400,000 in new money during the coming biennium.

A one-time gain of $6,000,000 will be achieved by setting of a 15 months-from-date-of-death limitation on payment of the inheritance tax.

Teacher pay raise also will require financing at the local level. Present estimate is that the owner of a $15,000 home will pay $2.52 more in annual property taxes to school districts.

BILLS PASSED - Among the new laws passed during the final days of the regular session of the 59th Legislature were:

-Continuation of the Bay Study Committee, which is concentrating on the problems of water pollution;

-Regulation of the taking and processing of oysters and other shellfish for sale;

-Creation of Permian State College, if higher education coordinating board approves, at Odessa.

-Asking members of Congress from Texas to vote for keeping the section of the Taft-Hartley Law which permits Texas to outlaw closed union shops;

-Prohibition of the use of .22 caliber rimfire ammunition to hunt deer, elk, antelope and wild sheep in counties not regulated by the Parks and Wildlife Commission;

-Prevention of city councils from making residence within the city limits a condition of employment;

-Legalization of free games on pinball machines;

-Requirement for testing of all babies born in Texas for phenylketonuria (PKU), an inborn error in system which, if uncorrected, causes brain damage;

Parents liability up to $5000 for malicious and wanton damage by their children.

MIGRANT PROGRAM ASKED - Gov. Connally's Office of Economic Opportunity made application for $5,400,000 in federal funds under Economic Opportunity Act for massive program of assistance to state's 128,000 migrants.

Program seeks $3,200,000 to extend special six-months' intensive schools for migrant children from 10 districts to 40.

add to 59th

A $1,100,000 component would start adult basic education, homemaking training and occupational training in communities with large numbers of migrants.

Texas OEO also proposes to build and staff for $735,050, five rest stops for migrants.

A tuberculosis screening and testing project would cost $302,665. It calls for six regional offices in South Texas.

Texas Employment Commission and Texas Education Agency plan to retrain and relocate migrants into permanent jobs in West Texas. An application for $205,626 will place Texas OEO in a coordinating position with respect to housing requirements and allow it to work with local community officials in a program of community relations while migrants are in school.

Governor also announced State Dept. of Parks and Wildlife expects to employ 427 youths during summer in a park maintenance program under a $193,891 federal grant from Neighborhood Youth Corps.

WOMEN'S JOB CORPS CENTER - McKinney Veterans Hospital would be used as a women's job corps center, if application of Texas Education Agency is granted.

Request was made contingent on closing of the hospital facility. However Congressman Ray Roberts of McKinney is appealing decision to close the hospital.

Application calls for center with initial 600 enrollees and a staff of 275. A grant of $3,600,000 is sought for program beginning August 1, with average participation of 500 enrollees per month.

Hospital has 100 acres of land and 100 buildings.

"Born in the purple," meaning royal birth, is derived from the fact that the room in the Roman imperial palaces where the empress was confined was lined with purple imperia plorphyry.

—OLD PHILOSOPHER—

Dear editar:

While I don't understand boxing, what I mean is, the way I get it is, if Clay had hit Liston hard enough the fight fans would have been satisfied, whether the fight lasted one minute or thirty, but a gentle tap about like you'd use to get a cat off the dining table if you allow cats in the house makes everybody unhappy and and feeling cheated, still the thing about the whole affair is the clamor for an investigation.

It's a fact, fight fans are demanding that the fight be investigated, and several Washington officials have risen to the call.

What they say is, here Liston and Clay have fought twice, for a total of about four minutes, and the fans have paid out over eight million dollars to see it, either first-hand or on closed-circuit television, and they are tired of getting cheated and Congress ought to do something about it.

This is what I don't understand. If the fans are convinced the fights are fakes, why trouble Congress to pass a law to keep them from wasting their money? Why don't they just stay away? Why don't they allow nature to take its course? When a football team loses nine games in a row, how many fans show up for the tenth one?

I tell you, when Congress takes on the job of passing laws to keep the public from wasting its money on phony entertainment it'll be tied up from now on. In fact, if it succeeded, it'd wreck television.

Personally, I've always figured picking the world's champion boxer was about like picking Miss America. There's no such thing as the prettiest girl in the United States, anymore than there's such a thing as the world's best refrigerator. After a refrigerator manages to hold the temperature inside it at 38 degrees night and day, anything beyond that is ridiculous. There are thousands of girls in this country, each as pretty as the other, but the ritual requires one to be selected. I doubt if there's anything there worth investigating.

However, if I was a Congressman, I believe I'd rather try to find out what's wrong with boxing than what the answer is to Viet Nam.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

One Catch to Being a Bachelor

Not every bachelor can enjoy being foot loose and fancy free. There's at least one catch to it, especially if one lives alone: The possibility of being caught up short at the breakfast bar, the lunch counter, the dinner table. Meals of those who live alone are apt to be deficient in essential vitamins, minerals, and proteins. This word of caution comes to us from one who should know, a noted bachelor nutritionist.

With no one to take care of—or to take care of him—the bachelor or anyone who lives alone is likely to forget to take care of himself. Shopping and cooking for one is more difficult than for a family, and it costs more per head. His time schedule for meals may be so flexible that it disappears. Result: no meal at all.

Only those who take advantage of our adequate food supply to eat a variety of essential foods can hope for the health to live life to the hilt. These foods—meat or an alternate, milk or cheese, enriched or whole grain bread and cereal, fruits and vegetables—are calorie carriers all, as they are made up of proteins, fats, and carbohydrates. With these and the other nutrients calorie carriers offer—minerals and vitamins—live-aloners have the wherewithall to indulge their fancy.

Following this easy plan of choosing meals from essential foods, it is possible to sidestep the nutritional hazard of bachelorhood—illness caused by a deficiency of nutrients—and still remain foot loose and free for fancy.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to express my appreciation to all my friends and neighbors for their many cards and visits during my stay in the hospital, and to the entire staff of the St. Edward Hospital and to Dr. Richardson for their "tender loving care." All contributed so much toward making my stay in the hospital more comfortable and pleasant. God bless each of you.

Mrs. Chas. E. (Lena) Russell
